OTTAWA (CP)—Progressive Conservatives Tuesday strongly criticized in the Commons the Canadian government's attitude toward Britain and France in the Middle East crisis and blamed a large share of the trouble there on United States policies.

"The Canadian government has chosen to align itself with those who are not satisfied with the plain statement of purpose and the expression of good faith on the part of the governments of Britain and France in this matter," said Donald Fleming.

The Conservative member for Toronto Eglington at another point said:

"While we are not the U.S. Congress, nevertheless we are entitled to say of the policies of the United States that they are responsible to a very considerable degree, a regrettable degree, for the trouble that exists in the Middle East today." Both Mr. Fleming and Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Centre) aimed blasts of criticism at Prime Minister St. Laurent as the Commons moved through the second day of the special parliamentary session to consider Canada's role in the Middle East and its planned $1,000,000 contribution to Hungarian relief.

Before the House was a Conservative non-confidence motion criticizing the government.

Mr. Fleming termed the prime minister's statements Monday "petulant, belligerent and provocative" and said much of Mr. St. Laurent's "impatience" stems from the fact there is growing sympathy in Canada and other countries for the Anglo-French intervention in Egypt.

DEMOCRATIC WAY

Mr. Green said no two countries have done so much to preserve the democratic way of life as Britain and France. Yet they were treated as "aggressors" by Canada.

They had never been aggressors and they were not aggressors when they moved into Egypt.

"Yet the prime minister has the effrontery to compare British and French Middle East action with the action of Russia in Hungary."

This brought Prime Minister St. Laurent to his feet.

He said heatedly that Mr. Green's statement was a flagrant "misconception" of what he had said in the debate Monday night.

CURRIES FAVOR

Mr. Green retorted that Mr. St. Laurent's statement was obviously aimed at "cutting off free discussion."

For 10 years Canada curried favor with the United States. The government was "the U.S. chore boy." If Mr. St. Laurent wanted to visit DEW, distant early warning radar line sites in Northern Canada he would have to get Washington clearance.

Mr. St. Laurent interjected: "The honorable gentleman knows that is absolutely false."

"The prime minister is in the same kindly Uncle Louis mood that he was in last night," Mr. Green remarked, referring to Mr. St. Laurent's speech Monday.

Mr. St. Laurent again stood up but his words were drowned out and he sat down as Mr. Green laughed and flapped his arms in mock distress.

Earlier, External Affairs Minister Pearson said that at one point after British-French land

General Recalls Hong Kong Debacle

By TOM GREEN
Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Tossing a bombshell in the Middle East debate on the floor of the House of Commons yesterday, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, Conservative MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, disclosed that 240 members of the Queen's Own Rifles designated for service with the United Nations emergency force were 18-year-old recruits with only a few months' military training.

He charged Prime Minister St. Laurent with misleading the House as to the preparedness of the battalion, now "in reserve" at Halifax, and called on Defence Minister Campney to reply to his charges about the Queen's Own, based on his own personal knowledge, and also to answer criticism that the UN emergency force was neither equipped nor competent to deal with the task given it.

The government, Gen. Pearkes declared, should examine the components of the UN Middle East police force very carefully and make sure that the forces this country intends to send to the Middle East are properly equipped in event of fighting.

He recalled that the fighting in Korea had been labelled police action, but that when members of the Canadian brigade got there, they found they had to fight for their lives. Further, he reminded the Commons that a defence force was sent to Hong Kong in the Second World War for "garrison duty" and was overwhelmed because it was lacking in essential equipment.

Gen. Pearkes told the chamber that he had asked a "very high authority" what type of force would be required to patrol and maintain order in the Suez Canal area and the Sinai Desert. The reply was that to do the job efficiently, a force of two light armored divisions and several squadrons of reconnaissance planes would be needed.

"While he declined to name the high military authority whom he had consulted, it is recalled that Gen. Pearkes visited England this summer for the centenary of the Victoria Cross and talked with many generals familiar with the Middle East."

Balanced—But How?

It was essential, he told the Commons, that the UN police force be not only efficient but capable of carrying out the job of separating the armed forces of fighting men.

Gen. Pearkes said that External Affairs Minister Pearson had spoken of a balanced force. It might be balanced politically or geographically, but a force composed entirely of infantry battalions did not meet his idea of a "balanced" force from a military viewpoint.

"It is all very well for the government to shelter behind Gen. E. L. M. Burns and the United Nations on this matter. It looks as though the intention is to create a scapegoat of Gen. Burns in case things go wrong," he said. "We don't know if Gen. Burns is satisfied with the contingent being sent by the UN to the Middle East. The men may be the best the countries taking part can send, but there is doubt about the equipment."

"We are told the UN force is 'in being' in Egypt. I thought it was on paper and in the course of preparation."

The present 1,700 men of various services and from various countries, Gen. Pearkes said, cannot be regarded as an effective force to patrol 1,000 miles of country.

Calling on Defence Minister Campney to tell how the 1st Battalion of the Queen's Own Rifles was made up, Gen. Pearkes said:

"The impression was given in this House by the prime minister that this battalion was fully ready to proceed overseas. I met 240 men and officers of the 2nd Battalion of the Queen's Own Rifles when saying goodbye to them on the dock at Victoria. They were being hurriedly sent to build up the strength of the 1st Battalion."

"I saw these men leave. Every able-bodied man who was fit medically, and many 18-year-olds and medically unfit. The 2nd Battalion was cannibalized to make the list up to strength."

These men, Gen. Pearkes added, were being sent into the desert where conditions are vastly different from anything they have known in Canada. He didn't believe Canadians felt that the UN force was either an efficient or effective one. It was the duty of the government to insure that the men it is sending for the UN force are men capable of enduring the hardships of duty in the Middle East.

Bulletins

NAPLES, Italy (CP)—Canadian army officers in Italy say they doubt that the Queen's Own Rifles will ever be sent to the Middle East. There have been suggestions the battalion should remove its shoulder patches to satisfy the Egyptians, but they add the morale of Canadian soldiers has already suffered enough. The only Canadian soldiers here not sent on to Egypt are members of the Queen's Own.

CALGARY, Alta. (BUP)—A fire destroyed 13 giant Centurion tanks and a tank hangar valued at $2,000,000, at the old Sarcee military camp adjoining Calgary last night.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (UP)—A freight train carrying explosives smashed into a gasoline truck at a crossing, killing three men and setting off a series of fiery explosions.

CASABLANCA, Morocco, (UP)—A wildcat dock strike by Moroccan workers threatens to cut the supply line to three U.S. strategic air command advance atomic bases.

LONDON (Reuters)—The chief rabbi of Egypt, Haim Nahum, has resigned in protest against the systematic persecution of the Jewish community by the Egyptian government.

'Tight Money' Forces Island Men Off Job

PORT ALBERNI—First major and direct effects of the federal government's anti-inflation policies will be felt on Vancouver Island next week when 100 employees of MacMillan and Bloedel's Alberni Plywood Division are laid off Monday.

Company officials attributed the layoff to scarce mortgage money and a consequent slackening of building in Canada.

The market cannot absorb normal plywood production, a company spokesman said.

Tobacco Wins Heat At Olympics

Terry Tobacco and Murray Cockburn were eliminated in second round heats. Tobacco was fourth in one and Cockburn sixth in another.

MELBOURNE (CP)—Terry Tobacco of Cumberland, B.C., won his heat today in the preliminary round of the Olympics 400-metre run.

His time of 47.9 seconds equalled the best he has ever made in competition. The Olympic record is 45.9.

Murray Cockburn of Toronto placed second in another heat and qualified.

DISQUALIFIED

Louis Jones of the United States was first in the second heat in 48.1. Kanji Akaga of Japan apparently had finished second but he was disqualified for running outside his lane and Cockburn was given second place. Ardullah Khan of Pakistan was third.

Three in each heat qualified. Jacques Degats of France was second to Tobacco and James Lea of the United States third. Each was timed in 48.3.

Laird Sloan of Montreal missed qualifying, placing fourth in his heat. His time of 50 seconds was slow.

SOUTH AFRICAN WINS

Charles Jenkins of the United States placed third in another of the eight heats and qualified. Malcolm Spence of South Africa won the heat.

Graham Gipson of Australia also qualified with a second place to Karl Friedrich Haas of Jamaica.

TERRY TOBACCO

Other heat winners were Ardall Ignatiev of Russia, Francis Higgins of Great Britain and Richard Gosper of Australia. Qualifiers included George Kerr and Melville Spence of Jamaica.

Growing Soviet Influence

Reds, Arabs Pose New War Threat

LONDON (UP)—Inter-Arab rivalry and growing Soviet influence threatened a new Middle East conflict yesterday and caused urgent appeals to the United States to head off a fresh flare-up.

In Amman, Jordan scrapped its military treaty with Britain and ordered all British troops to leave that country. The Jordanian government said it was considering setting up diplomatic relations with Russia.

The Jordanian government also joined Syria in accusing Iraq, a member of the pro-Western Baghdad Pact, of smuggling arms into Syria for a revolt against the Damascus government.

The Conservative Daily Telegraph called on the United States to join the Baghdad Pact. It said such a move would "immensely fortify the alliance and at the same time serve warning to the Russians."

BAGHDAD (Reuters)—A reliable Arab diplomatic courier arrived here yesterday from Syria and reported Soviet-made fighter and bomber planes are landing there daily.

New Total, $531

Toy Auction Will Help '500 Fund'

Before the second day's count ended yesterday afternoon, donations to the "500 Christmas Fund" at The Daily Colonist had exceeded a dollar for each of the 500 neediest families in this area.

Total to date is $531, made up of $478 as listed below and returns received in the mail last night from donors whose names will be published tomorrow.

Many more dollars are needed if the 500 families are to be given amounts of even a fraction of what is needed.

The fund, started by Colonist publisher Seth Halton "so that these people can buy something they like," won the support of Mayor and Mrs. Percy Scarrath with a $15 donation yesterday.

TOY AUCTION

Maynard & Sons, 733 Johnson, offered to stage a toy auction in mid-December and give proceeds to the fund. Vic Van Isle Kinsmen announced more details of their bingo game Saturday, which will also help the fund.

Donations are recognized as charitable for income tax purposes and may be mailed to the "500 Christmas Fund" at The Daily Colonist, or left at this newspaper or its downtown office at 1215 Broad.

Mr. Halton stressed again yesterday that the fund will not duplicate but will add to the "very fine work" done each year-end by the Christmas Bureau, Salvation Army and surplus food stall.

In its 55 years, said Maynard's officials, their firm has raised "something like $1,000,000" for charities.

"People should scour their attics and basements," a spokesman said. "They'll find bicycles, tricycles, footballs, baseballs, games, skates, all kinds of toys that don't need repairs."

These toys should be taken to Maynard's. If the owners wish to donate the toys outright, the "500 Christmas Fund" will receive the entire proceeds; if the owners wish to sell them for auction, the fund receives the 15 per cent commission on the sale.

A. G. Grant, bingo chairman for the Vic Van Isle Kinsmen club, said 150 tickets had been sold for the game in Central Junior High School at 8 p.m. Saturday, and "we always have a big sale at the door." But a much bigger advance sale is needed.

The $2 admission price will include 15 games, for which the list of big prizes is topped by a $500 cash first prize.

Factions United Against U.S.

Is America Treating Britain Like a Satellite?

LONDON (UP)—Americans in Britain are beginning to feel the cold.

It's not the weather but the political climate.

There's no question about it. Anglo-American relations are at a new low.

The friendly criticism between resident Americans and Britons has always been a part of life here—and it's often fun.

But as the Suez crisis drags on, the bantering is taking on a more querulous tone.

Spokesmen for the American embassy and U.S. information officers here admitted they were "deeply disturbed" at the trend.

The newspapers are outspoken about it.

"The cold-shoulders Britain over Suez," said a headline in the empire-minded Daily Express yesterday.

"Eisenhower—Friend or foe?" asked the Evening News.

The Express story said Mr. Eisenhower had sent Britain into exile because of the Egyptian crisis. It said Britain was "losing confidence" in its trans-Atlantic ally.

Perhaps the most biting attack also came yesterday—from a member of the Labor Party who felt so deeply that the Conservative government was right in going into Egypt that he resigned his socialist seat in Parliament.

He is Stanley Evans.

Writing today in the Daily Express—a normally pro-American newspaper—the former MP said: "The shock, dismay and anger felt by the British people at their betrayal by America and the United Nations must now give way to a calm assessment of what our policy should be."

This Anglo-American problem is very serious. What Americans are trying to do is to burst the sterling area wide open."

Evans then hit hard with this statement: "America is using Suez to do to Britain what Russia is doing to Hungary in Budapest."

The opposition party and its press, which violently opposed Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden's action in Egypt, was joining the "criticize-America" campaign.

The Daily Herald, organ of the Labor Party, prominently displayed a speech by its renegade member Evans.

In that speech Evans said

Washington "is telling us that we are a satellite power."

The independent left-wing Daily Mirror carried an anti-American cartoon displaying a furious President Eisenhower refusing aid to stranded motorists.

The Liberal News-Chronicle said, "reports are widespread that the Americans are seeking to force us out of Suez, and even to bring down Sir

Anthony Eden by denying us oil."

Even the Financial Times joined the fray beginning its lead editorial today with: "It is inevitable that there should be strong anti-American feeling in Britain at the present time." But it described as a "dangerous political myth" that the U.S. was using an oil sanction to force Britain into line with American policy.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

SOME Liberals think that the Conservatives should keep foreign affairs out of politics. B.C. government critics want to take roads out of politics. Eisenhower's supporters said Stevenson should quit playing politics with the H-bomb.

In other words: "Quit sowing disunity, you disloyal hounds. Let's get together and agree that we're right and you're wrong."

The more things you take out of politics, the better chance there is of leading a quiet life. After a time, there will be nothing left to argue about. The members of parliament can go home and play golf.

The late Hitler and Mussolini kept a tidy house. With no unseemly squabbles. They did it by a simple device: they took politics out of politics. But look what happened to them.

Well, it seems we'll have to apologize for those nasty words about the liquor profit grab. Premier Bennett says B.C. was only doing what the other provinces did.

Why didn't he say so in the first place, and set our minds at rest?

We thought that B.C. had set itself up in the liquor piracy business on its own. But now we have been informed that 10 provinces are gouging the consumer in perfect unison.

Thank you for the explanation, sir. Ten provinces can't be wrong.

It is just possible, however, that the voters in all 10 provinces will be a little stubborn about it, come next election.

Bonner Tells Convention:

Federal Money Policy Threat to All Canada

EDMONTON (BUP)—British Columbia's Attorney-General Robert Bonner last night told a public meeting in Edmonton that the current "tight money" policies of the federal government are a threat to the economic welfare of all Canadians.

The attorney-general's review of several resolutions of a national nature at the Sacred convention in the Alberta capital culminated in a sharp attack on the financial policy of the Liberal administration in Ottawa.

He called the policy "both unnecessary and in itself inflationary." Big business is favored over small business and "the policy encourages monopoly while penalizing individual effort," he charged.

One of the results of the Ottawa policies, he said, had been a "grey market" in money for ordinary financing "and the only one who benefits from this

Ease Credit, Opposition Begg Harris

OTTAWA (CPI)—Finance Minister Harris was besieged by opposition pleas in the Commons Tuesday to help ease interest rates and credit curbs so that hard-pressed municipalities might find it easier to raise much-needed capital.

But Mr. Harris gave no indication of any plans to change federal policy.

"If a municipal corporation finds that as an elected body it has to choose between paying a higher rate of interest and postponing work it has in mind, that is simply a responsibility which comes to all of us at one time or another."

Erhart Regier (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) asked whether Mr. Harris was aware that Bank of Canada action was making it exceedingly difficult for municipal governments to market bonds at suitable interest rates.

"The question indicates a complete misunderstanding of the money market at the moment," replied Mr. Harris. "It is not the action of the bank which is causing the rise in interest rates; it is the demand on the money supply both in business and in government circles."

J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood) seemed surprised. Did Mr. Harris intend to say that the central bank had nothing to do with the interest rate prevailing at the moment?

Mr. Harris said he wanted to dispel the notion that the central bank "consciously raised interest rates in Canada."

Hon. Earl Rowe, acting opposition leader, finally asked whether there is any truth to rumors that the government will work with the central bank to reduce interest rates before next June, when a general election is expected. Mr. Harris did not reply.

Charming Gift For Christmas

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

One of the most charming and popular "presentation" plants of the Christmas season is Solanum pseudo-capsicum, popularly known as the Jerusalem Cherry. How it got this name, I haven't a cherry-in-fact, for it isn't a cherry—in fact, the bright little orange-berried berries are poisonous—and it isn't from Jerusalem, but is a native of Madeira.

It is a shrubby or semi-woody plant, second cousin to the potato and closely-related to the tomato, the egg-plant, and the pepper. It is easy to raise from seeds or cuttings annually, or it may be grown on from year to year to make a really large plant.

KEEP 10 DAYS

Seeds are available from most of the mail order seedsmen, or you can save your own by selecting a few of the largest and best-colored berries. When they are fully ripe and beginning to shrivel a little, gather them and keep them for 10 days in a warm, dry place, then remove the seeds and lay them out for a few days on a sheet of absorbent paper towelling to dry.

The best time for sowing is February or early March. Sow thinly in one of those squatty flower pots filled with sandy soil, cover the pot with a sheet of plastic film, held in place with an elastic band, and keep in a warm kitchen until the little seedlings come through, then uncover and move to a sunny window.

MOVE SINGLY

When the little plants are large enough to handle, move them singly into three-inch pots, and again, about June, into five or six inch pots in which the plants will flower and bear their ornamental berries.

When the baby plants are five inches tall, they should have their tips or growing points nipped off, which induces them to put forth side shoots or branches. When these branches, in turn, are three inches long, they too should have their tips nipped off, and your Jerusalem Cherry will form a nice bushy plant with lots of flowering and fruiting twigs.

BEST OUTDOORS

Home-grown plants will fare best outdoors during the summer months, with the pots sunk up to their rims in soil or ashes to keep them from drying out. Outdoors, the insects and wind will pollinate

Egypt Issue Nearly Broke Empire Bonds

OTTAWA (CP) — The ties of the Commonwealth were severely strained and almost crushed by the armed intervention of Britain and France in Egypt, External Affairs Minister Pearson said Tuesday.

The Commonwealth, he told the Commons, was "badly and dangerously split" by Britain's sudden and surprising decision to intervene with arms in the Israeli-Egyptian dispute, a move taken without consulting others in the Commonwealth or those in the Western alliance.

VERGE OF DISSOLUTION

"At one stage after fighting on land began, it (the Commonwealth) was on the verge of dissolution and that is not an exaggerated observation."

Months before, Canada had realized there was no meeting of minds on the Suez crisis between France and Britain and the United States.

The Canadian government also realized that the fault lay not entirely overseas.

Nevertheless the Canadian government warned Britain that if any country took action contrary to the United Nations charter that country would be hauled up before the UN.

TRIED TO MEND

At the UN, Mr. Pearson said, Canada tried to be sympathetic and friendly to Britain and France and worked to mend Commonwealth links and to restore the channels of consultation among the western alliance.

The Canadian government's attitude on the Middle East, said Mr. Pearson, was "an objective attitude."

WISE TO HALT

It was "wise," he added, that Britain and France had stopped the fighting after overcoming Port Said.

"If the U.K. and French forces had continued fighting at that time, I suggest that the Commonwealth might not have been able to stand the strain, that the Asian members of the Commonwealth might not have been able to remain in it in those circumstances."

DEEPER SPLIT

"I suggest also that a continuation of the fighting, even if it had had immediately successful military results, would have created an even deeper and more permanent split between the Western European and Arab World."

"It might well have led to the occupation of Egypt, which was not an original objective of British-French intervention."

Mr. Pearson spoke for almost two hours, touching briefly on the Hungarian situation and concentrating heavily on the Middle East crisis and the role of Canada in supplying troops for the Canadian-sponsored UN Emergency Force.

He said Premier Nasser had raised objections to the presence of Canada's Queen's Own Rifles in Egypt because of similarities between uniforms of Canadian and British troops.

Canada had agreed to delay the

'Stalingrad of Egypt' Label for Port Said

PORT SAID — Egyptian propaganda is describing Port Said as the "Stalingrad of Egypt" in which 10,000 are said to have been killed.

1. 40,000 Anglo-French parachute troops were killed, "many by women and children."

2. All blockships in the Suez Canal were sunk by allied air attacks, which also destroyed El Firdan bridge across the canal.

3. France's biggest battleship, the Jean Bart, was sunk by Egyptians during the Anglo-French landings.

4. No Egyptian planes were destroyed by Anglo-French air attacks, only wooden dummies.

British officials said a recent picture purporting to show Egyptian soldiers in action was in fact a picture of American troops in training.

AUGUSTA, Ga. — President Eisenhower, moving to heal a split with Britain and France, said Tuesday:

"These differences in no way should be construed as a weakening or disruption of the great bonds that have so long joined our nation with the United Kingdom and the Republic of France and our other allies in assuring that peace, justice and freedom shall prevail."

PORT SAID — Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, UN commander-in-chief in Egypt, has decided to move United Nations troops into the area between Anglo-French and Egyptian forces south of Port Said.

The announcement said the present United Nations Emergency Force in Port Said will be increased to battalion strength and stationed at Port Said and Port Fuad.

Hungarian Boss Rapped

Workers Urged to Work

BUDAPEST (AP) — Budapest's Council of Workers asked its members Tuesday night to stay on the job "in the interest of the people."

But a spokesman for the organization said there was little likelihood of any quick agreement with the government of Janos Kadar, the Soviet-supported premier.

Kadar's speech Monday night "did not serve the interests of the Hungarian people and it hinders a peaceful solution," a resolution passed by the council said. The council represents the capital's workers.

"UNPARDONABLE" Kadar declared that former premier Imre Nagy and his government "committed an unpardonable crime against the Hungarian nation" by failing to take action "against the counter-revolution."

Kadar contended that fascists and reactionaries gained control of the Hungarian revolution shortly before Russian military might moved in on Nov. 4.

DEMAND NAGY RETURN The workers have been demanding that Nagy be returned in place of Kadar and that the Russians withdraw from Hungary.

A council spokesman declared: "We will not yield and the government knows it. Imre Nagy has been and remains our first demand and in the end we will win anyway."

The workers said they felt Kadar's definition of a "counter-revolutionary" could "also include us."

NO DELAYS OTTAWA (CP) — The flow of Hungarian refugees to Canada is not to be delayed by normal medical requirements for immigration to this country, Immigration Minister Pickersgill said Tuesday.

Replying to a Commons question by Gordon K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough), he said taking of tuberculosis X-rays will not be allowed to delay acceptance of Hungarians.

Those found to have the disease before heading for Canada would be sent back.

Some active cases could not be brought to Canada with other refugees for fear of spreading the disease, but arrangements would be made for these persons to come as soon as the necessary precautions could be taken.

action began in Egypt the Commonwealth was "on the verge of dissolution."

Mr. Pearson described current events in Syria and Lebanon as "a matter of immediate gravity."

John Diefenbaker (PC-Prince Albert) asked whether the UN Emergency Force in Egypt will have to be increased to deal with new problems arising from the "critical" situation in Syria and Lebanon.

Mr. Pearson said the UN force would soon be greatly increased. Mr. Green said the U.S. had brought on seizure of the Suez Canal by refusing financial help for the proposed Aswan Dam on the Nile River.

Now U.S. policy was to build up Egypt and presumably get Britain and France out of the Middle East. Nothing Mr. St. Laurent had said indicated Canada's policy was any different.

"It's high time Canada had a government which won't knife Canada's best friends in the back."

The free world, and Canada in particular, is "selling its birth-right" because of the fear of a third world war, said Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg-South Centre).

"The time has come for us to stop living in this state of fear, to prepare for the worst and stand fast for all actions."

Churchill said he was tired of "this constant fear that is being held over our heads day after day... fear we must not say a harsh word against Russia; we must not criticize the United States because there may be a third world war."

He said that fear in the 1930s of

Inexplicable Bias

THE most revealing thing about the astonishing speech in Parliament on Monday by Prime Minister St. Laurent is the extent of his anti-British bias. He had already shown his disapproval of British policy in Egypt, and by his tone and attitude gone beyond what might be expected from one member of the Commonwealth to another even though his right to take an independent stand is unquestioned. Few had suspected, however, that his prejudice against Britain was so deeply rooted.

In lumping the big powers together when he condemns them for using the United Nations as an instrument for their self-interests Mr. St. Laurent shows himself as either very naive or as bemused as India's Mr. Nehru, whose foreign policy also seems to be based on the thesis that sin is bad. So it is, but statesmen of today need more than pulpit admonition in order to solve the conflicts inherent in international affairs. The art of government has often been quoted as the art of the possible. Mr. St. Laurent may not really understand this because all his political life he has had a well-drilled parliamentary majority at his disposal to make what his government decides automatically possible. The situation is not the same at the UN, however.

It is of small avail to rail at the power of the veto unless he is prepared to present a resolution to change the UN charter—and if he believes what he says he should do this immediately. The veto it is which can make the UN futile, although its impact has been blunted to some extent by the device of side-stepping the Security Council on occasion, but it is a hard fact of reality. It will not be wished away. There would have been no United Nations had veto power not been included, and at the instance of Soviet Russia and not Great Britain or the United States as the prime minister implied. Regrettably though it may be it is wholly impractical to expect large powers to allow their destiny to be decided by small powers.

As well say that Mr. St. Laurent should put the interests of the B.C. government before those of his own more powerful government at Ottawa. Would the prime minister subscribe to this application of his thesis? Yet British Columbians are "human beings" too. All governments, including Mr. St. Laurent's, look after the interests in their charge first, last and all the time. Great Britain is no different to Canada in this respect. Would Mr. St. Laurent, for instance, permit other small nations to determine the use and control of the St. Lawrence waterway when it is completed? He would not, in spite of his sophistries of Monday last.

The extremely disquieting emphasis of Mr. St. Laurent's address to Parliament, however, was in his various references to Great Britain. By association in one sentence he made it look as though somehow Britain bore responsibility for Soviet crimes in Hungary, because its Suez action helped to obscure this latest demonstration of Communist tyranny. That was grossly unfair, and in fact the Suez intervention began before the Hungarian massacres.

Even more disturbing was his statement that the era when the supermen in Europe could govern the whole world was near a close end. He could not have meant Soviet Russia, which apparently is still in the postwar heyday that has given it its present dominance and which before that never had European world-wide influence. There is left only Great Britain, which for a hundred years was the most powerful nation in Europe and upon whose efforts the peace of the world so often rested, and which numerous nations had cause to bless for the mere fact of its being.

If language means anything, therefore, Mr. St. Laurent considers it a good thing that the power and influence of Britain is no longer what it was, and he is glad that this is so. What is his purpose in such a statement? Is it his desire that Canada should dissociate itself from Great Britain entirely, thus breaking the Commonwealth bond under whose aegis Canada has risen to its present state of affluence and well-being? Is it the intention of his government to attach itself instead, hook, line and sinker, to the United States? Does he imagine that as a "small" nation Canada could then persuade the "big" nation that is its neighbor to a Laurentian way of policy? Is he so motivated by dislike of Great Britain that he welcomes the troubles that beset it and washes his hands of the traditional kinship that ties it to Canada?

These are the tremendous issues raised by the strange utterances of the prime minister. They involve the future pattern of Canadian national policy in its relation to the Commonwealth and to the world at large. They warrant the Liberal government he heads going to the country on this issue, by far the gravest as it affects Canada that has arisen as a result of the Suez crisis. We do not believe that in his sentiments towards Britain Mr. St. Laurent speaks for the Canadian people, and they should be given the opportunity to tell him so.

Rate Parity Accorded to B.C.

PARITY for British Columbia with the other provinces of Canada in the matter of rates for trans-Atlantic telephone conversations has now been attained as the result of representations made by the B.C. Telephone Company.

A new schedule of tolls announced by the company this week removes an inequality first brought to public attention by the Colonist when the telephone cable service was inaugurated in September. The first call from the United Kingdom to anyone in British Columbia was made by the Colonist's resident correspondent in London, who discovered that because of a differential applied only against British Columbia the charge for communications between this province and the other side of the Atlantic was about 25 per cent higher than anywhere else.

The $43,000,000 submarine cable is jointly owned by the Canadian Overseas Telecommunications Corporation (a Crown company), the American Telephone & Telegraph Corporation and the British government; and the last-named disclaimed responsibility for the differential when an explanation was sought. Trans-continental rates in Canada are fixed by the Trans-Canada Telephone System, a pool of all operating companies, and to it B.C. Telephone made representations for a reduction to bring rates into conformity with the other provinces. Trans-Canada in turn negotiated with the organizations responsible for operating the overseas link.

The result, announced by the B.C. company this week, is a rate effective December 1 of $12 on Sundays and $9 on week days. This is a reduction of $3 per call and puts B.C. on the same rate level as the rest of Canada. The lower charge also applies to calls to Sweden, Norway, France, Germany and other northern European countries, and similar reductions are being sought on rates to countries reached through New York.

The success of these efforts by B.C. Telephone will be appreciated by business firms having dealings with the United Kingdom and Europe and by private people now able to converse with relatives and friends in the old countries at rates which are remarkably low when compared with the enormous investment the trans-continental, trans-Atlantic systems represent. The savings thus effected will grow in importance as the service becomes better known and more extensively used, as it is bound to be with time.

Interpreting the News

Peiping Seen Edging Away

By K. C. THALER
United Press Correspondent

LONDON—Soviet officials made the remarkable admission today that Red China is following her own road to socialism, independent of the traditional Moscow lead.

The Peiping regime was using "entirely new ways and methods" to achieve socialism which were a complete departure from the traditional approach, the officials said.

Red China was said to be adapting the Marxist-Leninist dogmas to her specific requirements and circumstances.

The Soviet admission confirmed recent indications from Peiping that Red China is quietly going her own way, in an apparent effort to free herself from the Kremlin's tutelage—ideological as well as political.

Moscow appears both puzzled and worried over this trend of her biggest and most important ally, which amounts to the emergence of a new brand of "Titoism" in the Far East. But, say the Soviets, Peiping is not attempting to spread its Socialist evolution beyond its frontiers—at least not so far.

The sources contrasted this Chinese attitude with the ambitions of President Tito of Yugoslavia, whom they now accuse of seeking to take over the leadership of the Communist bloc from the Soviet Union.

One of the most puzzling features to the Soviets of Red China's Socialist evolution is Peiping's alleged tolerance of and co-operation with the remaining capitalist and bourgeois classes within the republic.

The Soviets fail to grasp that not only were they allowed to exist in Red China, but that they were recognized by the regime.

Instead of their all-out destruction the Peiping regime is trying to re-educate members of the capitalist and bourgeois classes and to win them over by persuasion and example, the Soviets say.

This was something quite new and certainly unheard of in the doctrine and practice of the Soviets.

Moscow was said to be seeking more information from Red China on her independent approach to socialism.

This did not imply that Moscow was taking Peiping to task, but the Kremlin appeared anxious to take a good look at what is going on.

Indirectly this amounts to an open admission that Moscow no longer has the undisputed leadership in the sphere of Communist ideology in Asia or Europe.

"These yours? We found them stowed away in the Trans-Arctic expedition ship."

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and scaling was—of cabbage and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I HAVE been indulging in a highly literate exercise, reading the Police Gazette. One must do something when drinking a cup of tea alone, you know.

I don't suppose many of my readers are familiar with this journal. Until yesterday I was a stranger myself, although I have been subconsciously aware for decades that it existed. It would be impossible to scan a newspaper—and what a scan one can have these days!—and be otherwise. As a matter of fact it was established, so the magazine says, back in 1845.

Whatever its beginnings, the Police Gazette has nothing to do with the police. Not directly, that is. I did notice an article about bootleg whisky and another one about who killed the blonde in the blue nightgown, so I daresay the police come into things somewhere or another, by grace of the writers concerned. But that is all.

Incidentally, I don't know who killed the blonde in the blue nightgown, not having gone that far yet.

Actually I suppose I was attracted by a cover of Hitler and the assertion in big, bold type that he is still alive. Since I couldn't see how the disintegrating wreck of the Berlin bunker could have made his getaway this was real spice to my interest.

Alas, I am no wiser than before. There is a long riddle about fabulous Nazi treasures having been spirited to a hideout in Argentina, where they are allegedly guarded day and night by SS guards, but nothing to support, yet alone prove, the thesis that Hitler is there.

I shouldn't have been so naive. As a matter of fact, I first flipped the magazine over without worrying about the late unlamented one and came on a full-page picture of Jack Dempsey in the heyday of his little ruthlessness. It is exactly 30 years since the great Dempsey became an ex-champion, but no name has colored modern fist history like his. In another article in the magazine Mickey Walker, himself an ex-pug, says that Dempsey was the most popular champion in the history of sports. He was, after he lost the championship.

Walker is the former middleweight champion who, like Churchill and Eisenhower, took up painting as a sideline. Perhaps you saw him on TV a year ago, in one of those programs where the producers give a surprised guest everything but the Taj Mahal; they'd give it away too were it movable. A likeable chap Walker seemed, and although I had nothing to do with me and I couldn't be there, I was pleased when I learned he was to be given a one-man showing in a New York gallery.

The point Walker was making in the Police Gazette was that you can't always tell whether a good big man can lick a good little man. Naturally he played canny, for in his day he whacked a lot of men bigger than himself and he could cite a fine example: Dempsey. One doesn't think of Dempsey as small bulk, but he was the little man the day he knocked out Willard for the championship, 80 pounds lighter.

The Gazette has another article that almost provoked me into reading it through. All about the innocent viewers of TV quiz shows. I gather it is harder to get on a quiz show than answer the questions and that brains without color and personality don't stand a chance. I have suspected something of this before but I refrained from being wholly disillusioned and so didn't pursue the expose too far.

Anyway, my cup of tea lasts only so long, and the Police Gazette had served its purpose, even if I am left wondering about the story of the gambling judge who fined a dead man.

Letter from London

Economic Barriers Against B.C.

By RICHARD L. THOMAS, Daily Colonist Correspondent

THE announcement that Premier Bennett does not favor a British Columbia exhibition in London during centenary year—but may look upon the idea more favorably later on—is interpreted here as hopeful, with the qualification that it should not rule out the significance of a publicity campaign for the province which could best have been linked to something tangible in Britain.

The position which has to be accepted at the moment is that it is unlikely that convertibility will be with us within 18 months. Indeed indications at the moment point, if anywhere, to further devaluation of the pound, and if that is effected there will be probably still more stringent controls. This in turn makes unlikely anything more than a trickle of visitors to the province from sterling areas.

As things are—and as things are likely to be—the Briton can pay his return fare to any part of Canada in sterling and he can purchase meal vouchers available on trains and in railways hotels, but his actual cash is limited to $27 unless he is a civil servant going on the government's business or a manufacturer or salesman who can convince the British treasury that his journey is likely to help the export drive in Canada.

If the visitor has a blood relation in Canada whom he or she has not seen for a couple of years it is possible that the treasury will be willing to authorize $90 in dollar currency as a most generous compassionate gesture. Bluntly a Canadian trip is impossible unless there are friends in Canada prepared to provide hospitality and a certain amount of ready cash.

Consequently the only sterling area visitors British Columbia is likely to have during the centenary are civil servants and business men who are able to arrange for their essential journeys to coincide with the celebrations and a handful of "poor relations" offered hospitality by B.C. residents. The result is that as far as Britain and Europe are concerned British Columbia will have a pretty poor show.

A London exhibition would have done something to put this right—but it is recognized here that the premier had wisdom on his side when he inferred that celebrations at home would provide organizers with quite enough on their plate without the added responsibility of a London exhibition which would have to be done well or not at all. It is also recognized that experience during centenary year would help a subsequent exhibition in London.

The problem which remains therefore is to project the province in Britain during centenary year. Obviously some will come automatically if, as expected, it is the occasion for a Royal visit by Princess Margaret, but the wider issue remains and some effort should be made to provide films sufficiently out of the ordinary to justify special showing on television and in news reel theatres. Something could be done about emphasizing British Columbia in the schools and our universities.

The question of linking the occasion with an active migration drive has its complications. Officially migration is in the hands of the Canadian government immigration service which is not exactly favorable to provincial efforts. Ontario is the only province in London operating an immigration department. It does excellent work but the federal department regards it as a duplication of activity. Potential migrants passing through the Ontario office still have to be processed by the federal department, but it would be grossly inaccurate to suggest that Ontario has not done excellent work.

The main trouble with British Columbia is that while the federal department constantly emphasizes that it is concerned only with Canada as a unit, it does not in fact operate that way. It sends more than 60 per cent of all migrants to Ontario, but the main reason is largely economic. The simple fact is that it costs nearly twice as much to travel from Liverpool to Vancouver or Victoria as it does to Toronto, and this economic factor cannot be ignored by the majority of migrant families who prefer to preserve their limited capital for settling in, rather than expending it on transport. This is where Canadian immigration policy is diametrically opposed to Australian immigration policy.

The migrant from Britain to Australia can travel to any part of Australia for the same basic fare. Fremantle and Cairns are nearly 4,000 miles apart but he can go to either place or anywhere in between for the same fare. Australia for migration purposes is in fact a unit and there is no differentiation between component states. The Canadian government immigration department on the other hand talks of Canada as a unit—it plays up Canada and maintains a rigid impartiality as between province and province until it quotes transport costs. Then, for the first time, many Britons realize that Liverpool is nearer to Halifax, N.S., than Halifax is to Victoria.

If the federal government wants to be genuinely impartial it will have to follow Australian federal practice and arrange a migration fare which will be the same to any destination in Canada. If that were done British Columbia would probably be started by the number of migrants who would come direct. During the past week I have spoken to half a dozen people who would prefer to go to B.C. but have been restrained by transport costs.

If the provincial government could do something to overcome this anomaly of federal control of migration in centenary year it would be a great step forward. It would make sense of the present nonsense of federal impartiality, and it would offer the migrant for the first time freedom of settlement. Meanwhile despite the heroic efforts of federal immigration officers to maintain impartiality and not to stress one part of Canada in preference to another, the whole thing falls to the ground because of economic barriers. Maybe the removal of these could be a centennial objective. It could make a big difference to the next hundred years.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

RECENTLY there was a revival on TV of the Wizard of Oz, a wonderful motion picture that was made 17 years ago, in those days specially sensational because it was in color.

In our house to watch the TV were several young people in their twenties who had seen the picture originally 17 years ago, when they were all youngsters of from eight to 12. It was perfectly fascinating to watch the resurrection of a childhood memory. And despite the fact that the TV was black and white, and much of the original glory of the picture in color so lost, it was obvious that the full memory of their childish experience of it came flooding back. I heard 20-year-olds exclaiming and crying out in such glee as you seldom hear from them in the presence of contemporary entertainment. When Dorothy, after a tremendous series of receptions and music, which made these 20-year-olds jump and dance with eight-year-old delight, starts down the yellow brick road for her journey to the Wizard's castle, her meetings with the Straw Man, the Tin Man and above all the Cowardly Lion, caused sentimental tears to flow, and it seems to me we have no comedians today to equal Bert Lahr. Anyway, none who could play the Cowardly Lion.

It may be, of course, that the Wizard of Oz was not merely a sensation in its time. It may be a classic as a movie, in the sense that the book on which it is founded was and is a classic.

One thing for certain is classic: the re-awakening in total recall of the fond memories of childhood. And this the movies can do.

Break-Up of Western Reds

(From The Montreal Gazette)

THE Soviet Union's problems today are not confined to Russia or the satellites. In the free world, Soviet Communism is paying a high price for the brutal control Russia is retaining behind the iron curtain. The Communist Party of Ireland has formally condemned Soviet action in Hungary.

In France, two attempts by the Communist Party to hold demonstrations in favor of Russian actions in Hungary have failed. After anti-Communists destroyed the Communist press and party offices in Paris, a counter-demonstration was announced. It was a fizzle.

This week, a one-day demonstration strike call went almost unheeded. The highest support gained in Communist-led unions was 10 per cent. In some factories, the staffs worked overtime to raise funds for Hungarian relief.

Revolt in the Italian Communist Party is expected to unseat the party leader, Palmiro Togliatti, and most of his henchmen.

In Britain, members are resigning from the Communist Party by the hundreds. They include many members of long standing, leaders in the movement in unions and "intellectual" circles. Even the Daily Worker, the party newspaper, is having staff trouble through resignations (including the paper's cartoonist and its correspondent in Hungary).

In New York, the American Daily Worker is in an even greater spin. John Gate, the editor, calls for complete change in the American Communist Party's aims, procedures, principles—even a new name. The party, he says, should no longer regard Marx, Lenin or the Soviet Union as infallible.

The Canadian party (here called the Labor-Progressive), is in a similar dilemma, with its own party members denouncing Moscow, while its leaders still support the Soviet line.

Russian action in Hungary has not only smashed any possibility of "popular fronts" but is cracking the foundations of the Communist parties in the West.

Letters to the Editor

Changing Victoria

This is my fifth visit to your beautiful and growing city. Several things have impressed me this time, and not too favorably either.

1. The absence of the Union Jack in this strongly British province. Are there no Union Jacks here and, if so, are they in mothballs?

2. The absence of "God Save the Queen" at the Arena at hockey games. Surely "O Canada" has not superseded "God Save the Queen" out here in this loyal city.

3. The demolition of that beautiful stone post office, built, I see, in 1914. Too bad to see it go down when it matched the Empress and the Parliament Buildings. Who is getting the stone from the old post office?

4. Was it necessary for the police to chase two young, foolish boys in a stolen car at such a rate, which might have caused a death? It did appear quite unnecessary and poor judgment.

Let us use our best endeavors to use our flag and national anthem to make our loyal subjects proud of being loyal Canadians and of the British Empire.

Pricked Bubble

Well done, Alderman Macmillan, for having the courage to prick the city manager bubble.

As for those city hall big boys who were shocked, would they care to explain the following: Why Victoria with a population of about 53,000 requires the services of a paid city manager, paid mayor and paid aldermen, while London with a population of about 9,000,000 manages to get along without the services of a city manager, paid mayors or paid aldermen?

Baskets Appreciated

Concerning Mrs. Marshall's letter re flower and holly baskets, let's face it: Victoria needs tourists in winter as well as summer.

There are those who, like Mrs. Marshall, don't care to put any effort into making our lovely city even more attractive to the thousands of tourists who spend their much-needed foreign dollars here. Being an employee of a local hotel, I know the efforts are not wasted. Every tourist that I have come in contact with remarks about the flower baskets which seem to have aroused such controversy among a few of our local taxpayers.

Sorry for Dr. Chisholm

When I first read Dr. Chisholm's article on "Cowardly parents who send their children to Sunday school" I wondered what he would think of those of us who still attend Sunday school and church with our children. Today (Nov. 23) he says that God is brought in as a "stick" to be used when our authority is no longer adequate. I feel sorry for the man, for I feel he has never been in a Christian home or seen Christian parents with their children where God is honored and respected as a member of the family.

Lay Off Britain

Had Russia instead of Britain intervened with her "volunteers" the probability is that Egypt, with her assistance, would have turned the tables on Israel, and the world war would be on in earnest. Had nobody intervened Egypt would have been conquered long before this.

One of the functions of UN is "to make the world safe for democracy," prevents wars and punish any aggressor, but it has failed lamentably all along the line—in Korea, Indonesia, Israel vs. Arabs and currently, Russia indulging her favorite pastime by making a shambles of hapless Hungary. And what has UN done about it? Nothing, except a face-saving protest—the "You bad, bad boy" brand. Completely impotent, UN has no teeth for such a job.

For his one act in world interest to keep the canal open Eden deserves praise and not censure. May it not prove when all the facts are known, if ever, that Sir Anthony will be vindicated as a benefactor rather than "a destroyer of British prestige and damage to the Commonwealth"?

Supposing we lay off "aggressive" Britain for a change and lodge a complaint where it rightfully belongs.

'Sound Business' Basis of Campaign

Saanich council candidate Fred Davison, 48, said yesterday he will base his campaign on a "sound business policy" for the municipality.

One of 10 aspirants battling for three vacant council chairs next month, Mr. Davison is chief traffic supervisor for the B.C. Electric Co. in Victoria.

"It is true that we are facing a tight money market," he said, "but this problem becomes increasingly more difficult if we lack modern business policy. If elected, I will support proposals which I believe to be stable economic methods, regardless of who may advance them."

Potential of Saanich is "tremendous," he added. "But unless we have a progressive, harmonious council, our future growth will be retarded."

'Too Much Interference'

Africa Slaps UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The Union of South Africa said Tuesday it is reducing its UN representation to a token group, as a protest against what it considers to be interference with one of its domestic problems, the racial issue.

In a voice that rose at times to sharp, bitter tones, Foreign Minister Eric H. Louw charged that the General Assembly violated its own charter by voting to place two items concerning race relations on the agenda for this session.

One item concerned charges that Indians in South Africa have been mistreated. The other was on "the question of race conflict in South Africa resulting from the registration of the government . . ."

Louw questioned the usefulness of the United Nations itself as well as attacked it for repeatedly taking up what he called his country's purely domestic affairs.

He said: "It has become necessary for the Union of South Africa to take stock of its position, and to decide where it stands in relations to the United Nations."

Louw recalled that on Nov. 15 he had warned the assembly delegates "they should not make the mistake of assuming that South Africa's patience is inexhaustible."

As a result, he said, South Africa decided that until such time as the UN is prepared to stop its alleged interference, South Africa will maintain only a nominal representation both at the General Assembly and at UN headquarters.

Duncan Report:

Prices Poor,
Farmers Hit

DUNCAN — Conditions within the agricultural industry are slowly but progressively deteriorating according to a special report of the employment commission in Duncan. The report was issued by R. S. Robinson, manager.

"Farmers are beset with many difficulties and problems," Mr. Robinson's report said, "and the cumulative effect is such that there is little encouragement left for this class of primary producers."

"The end results of the severe winter last year are still being felt, and produce prices are disappointing, particularly in the case of eggs, where unusually heavy importations have resulted in much lower prices than is considered normal for this time of year."

"Demand for farm help has been relatively light, due in part to the farmers' inability to be competitive with other industry in the matter of wages."

PETE MAFFEO
... Mr. Nanaimo's hat in ring

NANAIMO—Pete Maffeo, known locally as "Mr. Nanaimo" because of the work he has done for the community, announced late Monday night that he would be entering the mayoralty contest during next month's civic elections.

He made the announcement after sitting through a 2½-hour council session at city hall. Only other candidate for the seat vacated by Trade and Industry Minister Earle C. Westwood is Ald. Mrs. G. L. Hall.

Mr. Maffeo said: In offering myself as candidate for mayor, I feel my association with almost every organization in the city has given me a full understanding of the needs of Nanaimo.

"While I have not been on the council before, nevertheless, having worked with many mayors and councils, I feel sure that any little experience I may not have had in municipal procedure can be overshadowed by my experience in many years of organization."

"I have definite ideas and have proven that I have the ability and qualifications to put them before the people of Nanaimo."

Theatre

NANAIMO—Thieves who are believed to have hidden in the Capitol Theatre after the last show had finished left a trail of wreckage behind them Monday night, but got away with only three or four boxes of chocolate bars.

Manager Mel Gow discovered the robbery yesterday morning when he opened the premises. He had personally checked or locked all doors before he left the night before. He found the candy counter in the foyer damaged, and screens torn from radiators. Apparently the thieves had looked for hiding places for money but had not damaged the safe. They left two exit doors open behind them. RCMP are investigating.

'Seasonal'

NANAIMO—Vacancies in the logging and construction industries have shown a sharp decline over the past month, according to a report by National Employment Service manager J. H. Fox. He termed the decline "seasonal," however, and said persons working are on full time because of the good weather.

Salmon fishing ended Nov. 22 and many boats are tied up. Approximately 60 boats are ready to start if a settlement is reached regarding the price of herring, however.

Whenever you see a crowd these days, there's probably a new Thrill-Power Plymouth right in the centre of it. And no wonder! The new Thrill-Power Plymouth brings you more major engineering and styling advances than any car has ever offered before. Let's look at a few of them.

New '57 Flight-Sweep Styling with "double-header" headlights and soaring tail fins... a new shape of motion that puts your dreams on wheels. And it's a miracle of design because its new, lower-than-ever body gives you more room inside.

New Torsion-Aire Ride! It's an entirely new concept of smooth-riding comfort. You scarcely feel the roughest bumps. You take curves level and flat. And even emergency stops are smooth, without lurching "nose-dive." A revolutionary new torsion-bar suspension system does it... gives you new "big-car" comfort with road-hugging, sports-car handling ease.

New Thrill-Power Go! Step lightly on the accelerator. Feel that instant response. There's your choice of new V-8 or 6 power under the hood. Power that gives you the go to pass other cars with an extra margin of safety. And, of course, push-button automatic shifting lets you control all this power with finger-touch ease.

New Total-Contact Stop-Power! You stop safety-quick... use still less pedal pressure with new Total-Contact brakes because they spread stop-pressure evenly.

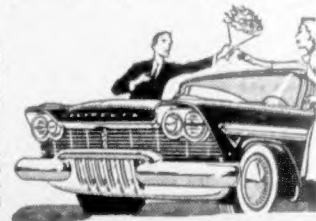

Yes, it's a beauty to drive as well as to look at... the new Thrill-Power Plymouth for '57.

Dramatically beautiful from every angle, soaring tail fins distinguish the new Thrill-Power Plymouth. Cantled gracefully outward, they lend a poised-in-flight look to Plymouth's new Shape of Motion.

Olympics Bereft of Babes Urged by Greek

By OSCAR FRALEY

MELBOURNE (UP)—The Greeks, who started all this Olympic muscle wiggling, had three words for it today.

"No ladies allowed."

That, according to Greek track coach Otto Szymiczek, is the way the games should be run — without women, sans senioritas, bereft of babes and with an absolutely all-but what he thinks a woman's place is in the home.

"The ancient Greeks never even allowed women into the stadium as spectators," asserted the gray-haired orator from Athens.

"And," he added aggressively, "if they are allowed to participate, they should be forbidden to intermingle with the boys."

This shot isn't going to get too much men or (b) women. Personally, Otto lost me on the first oratorical lap.

Because while the boys in action in the Olympic Games are fine competitors with tremendously bulging muscles, run like frightened jackrabbits and jump like kangaroos, something definitely is needed to dress up the general atmosphere.

The girls get my vote.

They can't run as fast, but who wants them to? And Otto apparently has been so busy teaching the modern Greeks how to make like the ancient Athenians and Spartans that he hasn't had time to take a gander at those streamlined women gymnasts.

Otto would hardly need 20-20 vision either to appreciate the scenery around the Olympic swimming pool. And, if he wants to argue, who cares whether they can swim? Szymiczek's ideas go even farther, however, than the mere banning of the ladies from the games. He frowns on such non-Spartan shenanigans as evening rock 'n' roll sessions in the Olympic village.

"They should have lectures and educational features," he asserted.

Now, I'm not exactly an Elvis Presley fan although I was a fair hand with a foot back in the pre-Olympic days.

But to go with Elvis the Pelvis on this one. If it comes down to a choice between rock

'n' roll and a filmed feature on log rolling in Afghanistan, well, clear the floor, junior, and give me some stompin' room.

And I'll bet you I've got more votes right this minute than Otto has in his no-dolls and no-dancing campaign. I've got one big one for sure.

Because when Earlene Brown, the Los Angeles muscle maiden, heard of Otto's proposal she did a defiant double shuffle with her light-footed 226 pounds and

"Well, shut my mouth!"

It sounded like a suggestion to Otto.

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

The Uplands club last week honored two of its most illustrious members. It elected Bob Morrison as its captain for the new season, and bestowed a life membership on Mrs. Edith Jackson, the first lady member of the club to be so honored.

Bob has been a member of the Uplands club for more than 20 years. During that time he has won the city championship eight times, the club championship six times, and his tremendous consistency as a golfer is reflected in his choice for eight B.C. Willingdon Cup teams.

The major honor which has eluded him is the B.C. amateur in which the nearest he got was the final, only to be beaten by a fellow Victorian, Harold Brynjolfsson.

Always ready to give advice to young golfers, and with a deep interest in his club, Bob should make an excellent captain. The honor to Mrs. Jackson is also well deserved. Like Bob she has dominated the Uplands scene for nearly 25 years.

She has won the club championship ten times, the city championship five times and also won the B.C. ladies' championship. In addition Mrs. Jackson played nine times on the B.C. provincial team.

The Uplands club also re-elected R. F. Williams as president, with J. Dawson as vice-president. Vice-captain is Claude Heggie. Committees were also struck as follows, with chairman's name first. Finance—R. Bramley, J. Dawson and R. F. Williams; House—M. Cave, Mrs. J. F. Dawson and W. L. Luney; Match—R. Morrison and C. Heggie; Green—J. Ferguson, W. L. Luney, F. Ranson and R. F. Williams; Membership—D. Willard, M. Cave and Mrs. J. F. Dawson; Entertainment—D. Willard, F. Ranson and R. Bramley.

The ladies' committee consists of Mrs. J. F. Dawson (captain); Mrs. W. S. Smith (vice-captain) and Mrs. H. L. Woolson (secretary).

CHRISTMAS TREE DATE AND VENUES. The stage is once again set for the Daily Colonist Christmas Tree golf tournament, now in its third year. Date is Wednesday, Dec. 26, Boxing Day.

As last year the men will play at Victoria Golf Club, and the ladies at Uplands. The Hudson's Bay Company is again playing the Father Christmas act so that no one will go home empty-handed, and there will be lots of other prizes as well.

Entry forms for the men's and ladies' sections will appear in the Daily Colonist on a date yet to be decided in early December. This is just a preliminary reminder to golfers to keep that day free.

KERR STRIKES BEST FORM. So far this season no team has managed to establish a monopoly on the city buttons. The Donaldson brothers, who looked a tough combination, failed Sunday at Colwood in their first defence.

They ran up against Laurie Kerr, the Island champion, in his best form, with George Andrews leading valuable aid throughout. The Colwood pair, past holders of the buttons, will meet Gordon Pellow and Al Reside of Uplands at Gorge Vale Sunday.

The junior buttons will be played at the same club with Roy Chappell and Jim McColl of Gorge, the holders, meeting Dale Dalziel and Bill Wakeham of Uplands.

CHRISTMAS MEALS WON. Turkey competitions are in full swing at various golf clubs. Saturday Len Woodhouse with a score of three up on par, won a bird at the Victoria Golf Club while Jack Wintermute and J. Hobson, each one up, will play for the second turkey.

At Uplands, Ed Kelsch (66) and Ed MacKenzie (68) were top two in the net competition, while low gross was shared by Fred Ranson and Frank Scroggs, each with 75.

Detroit, Montreal Stars Dominate NHL Scoring

Individual stars which made Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings the top teams in the National Hockey League for the past several seasons are again dominating the scoring race.

Out in front is 25-year-old Jean Beliveau, playing his fourth NHL season and seeking his second successive scoring championship. The big centre, who also leads in penalties with 49 minutes, has nine goals and 16 assists for 25 points in 21 games.

Hard on his heels is the durable Detroit pair of Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe.

Playing in his 13th season and 31 years old, Lindsay appears as good as ever. The scrappy leftwinger has 10 goals and 14 assists for 24 points and is only one point ahead of Howe.

ONE POINT BEHIND

Howe, who is playing his 11th season although only 28 years of age, also has 10 goals but has one assist less than Lindsay.

In fourth place is Detroit's brilliant young prospect, Norm Ullman, who is centring the two veterans. Ullman, who won't be 21 years old until Dec. 26 and who moved into the NHL after one season in the Western Hockey League, has scored five times and fifth place, each with 18 points, are three Montreal veterans, Maurice Richard, Bert Olmstead and Doug Harvey.

YOUTH MOVEMENT

However, behind the top seven come some of the many promising younger players who have been moving towards stardom in the last season or two, fellows such as Doug Mohns and Don McKenney of the Boston Bruins, Ed Litzenberger of the Chicago Black Hawks, Henri Richard, Dickie Moore and Claude Provost of Canadiens, and Ron Stewart, Dick Duff and Gerry James of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Jacques Plante of Canadiens is leading goalkeepers with a "fielding average" of .952. Behind Plante, in order, are Glen Hall of Detroit (.926), Terry Sawchuk of Boston (.923), Lorne Worley of New York (.914), Al Rollins of Chicago (.908) and Ed Chadwick of Toronto (.901).

Sawchuk, however, leads in goals-per-game average and his great play is generally credited as the biggest reason for the current first-place standing of the Bruins. The veteran ex-Detroit star has given up only 2.25 goals per game.

Players with 10 or more points and records of former Western Hockey League players follow:

Stamper's are making their second trip around the Western Division and last night's game was to have been their first of this trip. They will now stay over until next Monday, their Vancouver stop having been rescheduled for that night.

The Calgary club will play in Seattle tonight and meet the Cougars at Memorial Arena on Friday night before playing at New Westminster on Saturday night.

One of the more shapely Russian athletes at the Olympic Games is sprinter-hurdler Galina Popova, who gets plenty of attention from Canadian sprinter Stan Levenson of Toronto in the Olympic village near Melbourne. (CPC)

Kuts Captures 5,000 Metres To Take Second Gold Medal

MELBOURNE — Vladimir Kuts of Russia Wednesday became the second athlete to win two events in the 1956 Olympic Games when he finished first in the 5,000 metres run.

Kuts' world's premier distance runner of the moment, previously won the 10,000 metres. Bobby Morrow, U.S. sprint ace, had won both the 100 and 200 metres earlier in the week.

Kuts was pursued by two British runners as the first three to finish all broke the existing Olympic record of 14 minutes, six seconds which was set in 1952 by Emil Zatopek.

Gordon Pirie, timed in 13.50.6, was exactly 11 seconds behind Kuts' time of 13.39.6. Derek Ibbotson finished in 13.54.4.

BOOSTS RUSSIA
Kuts' victory helped keep Russia in the battle with the United States for the unofficial team championship.

Earlier, V. Spirene had won a gold medal, and 10 points, for the Russians by heading the field in the 20-kilometre walk. Anatas Mikenas and Brouno Louk finished second and third, for nine more points, to give Russia a sweep in the event.

Before that, the Russians had won the team pentathlon event but the surprising U.S. team finished second despite the fact that Sweden's Lars Hall successfully defended the individual championship he had won in 1952 at Helsinki.

U.S. ROLLS ON
Russia needed the points, however, as the great U.S. track and field team continued to pile up points in the bloodless battle between the two world powers.

American hurdlers finished one-two-three in the 110-metres event, two of them breaking the Olympic record.

Both Lee Calhoun, who won the event, and Jack Davis, who placed second, were timed in 13.5 seconds. The former record was 13.7 seconds and was held by Harrison Dillard of the U.S.

Joel Shankle was a bang-up third, giving the U.S. team 19 points in the event. Martin Lauer of Germany was fourth, Stanko Lorgor of Yugoslavia fifth and Boris Stollarov of Russia sixth.

O'BRIEN WINS
Perry O'Brien did the expected as he won the shotput, setting a new Olympic record with each of his three heaves.

His first try was 38 feet, nine and a half inches, well over the record of 57 feet, one and a half inches, which he set in 1952. Then he raised the record to 60 feet, seven and a quarter inches and to 60 feet, 11 inches.

William Neider took second for the United States at 59 feet, 7 1/2 inches. Jiri Skoela of Czechoslovakia was third.

Shirley Strickland of Australia repeated her 1952 win in the women's 80-metre hurdles as she bested the official world record of 10.8 seconds with a clocking of 10.7 seconds.

Mrs. A. Dowell Named Captain
Mrs. A. Dowell was elected ladies' captain of the Colwood Golf Club. Mrs. C. Harrell was named vice-captain and Mrs. H. G. McKenzie was appointed secretary-treasurer at a recent meeting.

Members of the sports committee for the 1957 season are Mrs. R. Crane, Mrs. G. Rice, Mrs. R. Ditchburn and Miss B. Peatt. Mrs. A. Tisdall, Mrs. G. Terry, Mrs. D. Spencer and Mrs. F. Skillings will serve on the house committee.

Wins Turkey Meet
Mrs. S. Walton won the "A" division of the Victoria Golf Club ladies' turkey par competition yesterday, finishing three down to par.

Mrs. A. Gonason completed the 18 holes two down to win the "B" division, while Mrs. E. C. Wilson won the "C" division, one up. Low net honors went to Miss R. Canning, who shot a 73.

Morrisons Make Gain By Defeating Farmers
Morrisons brought their record to 3-3 for the season in the Senior "B" Men's Basketball League last night as they pulled out a 40-37 win over Farmers at Victoria High School for their second straight victory.

The game was a rough-and-tumble affair in which several technical fouls were called. As a result, referees have sent in an official report to league officials.

Morrisons and Farmers were tied, 37-37, with one minute left in the game when coach Lou Mc-Donald sank two free throws and Jake Jacobson scored one to give Morrisons a 40-37 victory.

HOW THEY STAND

Dickinson & Dunn 5-1, 1st; Victoria College 4-2, 2nd; Morrisons 3-3, 3rd; Farmers 3-3, 4th; 18-15, O. Higgins and P. Raimon vs. J. LeQuere and J. Macdonald vs. R. Knott and J. LeQuere.

School Curling
Victoria High School meets Oak Bay and Mount View takes on Esquimalt this afternoon at the Victoria Curling Club in the boys' division of the inter-high school curling league.

In the girls' play at the same time, Victoria High plays Esquimalt, unbeaten in four matches, at Victoria High Thursday night at 7 in a battle for first place.

In the second game, Drakes play Rose Point at 8:30.

Farmers-Martin 12, Rose 2, Anderson 4, Garson 3, Douglas 2, Brown 2, Strickland 10 Total-37.

Morrisons-Gordon 3, Spirene 6, Jacobson 10, Walsh 3, Patterson 11, Crawford 4, McCullum 2, Bennett 4, Ball 2, Total-48.

O.C. Rugby Result
KEIGHLEY, England (Reuters)—Wakefield Trinity beat Keighley 120 in a Rugby League match here Tuesday.

Canadian Showings

What Canadian athletes did in early Olympic events Wednesday:

Terry Tobacco of Cumberland, who did most of his training last summer in Victoria, gained the semi-finals of the 400-metres event by winning his heat in 47.9 seconds—fastest time recorded in heat competition.

Murray Cockburn of Toronto also qualified for the 400-metre semi-finals by placing second in his heat, but Laird Sloan of Montreal was eliminated with a fourth-place heat finish.

Margaret George, 18-year-old schoolteacher from Meriville, Sask., failed to make the qualifying distance in the javelin throw and was eliminated. Miss George was almost 25 feet short of the qualifying mark.

Edward Beattie, a Hamilton steel worker, won Canada's first bout in Olympic boxing competition when he outpointed Sub Chundakowskaya of Thailand in the second round of the lightweight division.

Regi Siki won the six-wrestler elimination tournament that made up the balance of the card, pinning Dick Hirsch, who drew a bye into the final, in 12 minutes.

Siki entered the final by beating Carl Robinson, and Bill Fletcher and Monte Marmon were eliminated when they wrestled to a draw.

33 years of misery... ASTHMA and Chronic Bronchitis

If bronchial asthma sometimes makes you feel like a human wreck, see what happened to Mr. H. J. Reeder, Box 321, Armstrong, B.C. He tells us: "When I was 45 years of age, I began to suffer from asthma and chronic bronchitis. At 78 years of age, I had not found the medicine I needed to get relief from attacks of coughing, wheezing and gasping for breath. Then I was introduced to Templeton's RAZ-MAH by a neighbour, and am thankful indeed to have learned about this comforting relief. Since using RAZ-MAH I breathe far more easily... sleep comfortably and am able to take pleasure in life again... get about without difficulty!" # Banks Plan Overtime Pay

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's leading banks are actively considering paying their 60,000 employees time-and-a-half wages for overtime work.

The Royal Bank of Canada, biggest bank employer, announced it will pay union-style overtime after a 40-hour week to its 12,000 tellers, clerks and accountants.

Spokesmen for the Bank of Montreal, Bank of Nova Scotia, Imperial Bank of Canada, Toronto-Dominion Bank and the Mercantile Bank all indicated that they are considering it.

Canadian Bank of Commerce officials refused to deny or confirm a suggestion that they plan to institute overtime Dec. 1.

'Big Government Poses Threats'

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP) — The president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce said Tuesday that Canadians have been carried "too far and too fast along the road to big government."

Raymond Dupuis of Montreal, elected last month at the association's annual meeting, told a service club (Rotary) that "big government" poses two threats: Government competition with business and high taxation to meet its spending.

His text was released to the press before delivery.

Government had invaded Canadian business, he said, through 35 crown corporations employing 146,400 persons. The number of employees in Canadian crown corporations had doubled during the last 16 years.

If the trend continued the foundation of the country's free economy could be shaken. Many government enterprises, begun as crown corporations during the Second World War, had lingered long after the emergency had passed.

"The invasion of government into business constitutes unfair competition with business, demands large sums of money, and increases the cost of government," he said.

Nanaimo Chamber Prodded

NANAIMO—With the people of Nanaimo giving their support to the recent "expand Nanaimo" prosperity program, Larry Wight, chairman of the Nanaimo Industrial Development Commission, said it is now up to the Chamber of Commerce to follow through and show the public that their confidence is well founded.

He suggested a market survey of Vancouver Island where in the middle of a new industrial expansion which will soon change the whole picture on the island. PORT ALBERNI—Two aldermanic candidates being supported by Alberni District Joint Labor Council have issued statements in which they say they will work for repeal of fixed assessment agreements in Port Alberni.

John Foster, vice-president of Local 534 United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, announced that the fixed assessment of $200,000 on local and $200,000 on regional taxes, granted by the (former) Stewart and Wain 1946 to 1960 period, as it is being renewed by MacMillan and Bannister Limited.

One Ferguson, a member of the plumbers and pipefitters Local 110 said the agreement can be repealed on the grounds that the fixed assessment was granted to B.S. & W. manufacturing, construction of a sulphate pulp mill and should not apply to MacMillan and Bannister Limited for the purpose of constructing a pulp and paper mill on the same site.

Also being supported by the Joint Labor Council are George McKnight, a candidate for school trustee in Port Alberni and J. G. Trebbett, school trustee.

Pick One Centennial Project And Push It, Haddock Urges

District Service Clubs May All Work Together

A move to push a single centennial project for the Greater Victoria area may be undertaken through re-establishment of a service club council in the area.

Backing the proposal will be the Chamber of Commerce civic affairs group, which last night asked chamber vice-president Hugh Bennett to attempt to draw together the various service organizations for a unified scheme.

The suggestion was made by Courtney Haddock following a presentation of proposals by James Harvey for development of a Gorge park with the erection of a duplicate of the original Fort Victoria along with an interpretation museum, a museum and maritime museum.

"NOTORIOUSLY WEAK"

"On projects such as this Victoria is notoriously weak from lack of organization," Mr. Haddock said. "The centennial project will be doomed to the pigeon-hole like so many others in the past unless the area as a whole can get behind the project as a single goal to work for."

Mal R. C. Holmes, town planning commission chairman, pointed out that there were more than 100 suggested projects for the centennial already up for consideration.

The main trouble, Mr. Haddock said, "is that instead of going all out for one single goal project, a little shot is fired here, there and any where."

"TYPICAL" SHOT

He cited the B.C. Centennial Committee suggestion for a $200,000 statue to youth on the legislature grounds as "typical" of the scattered "shots" being fired.

"That suggestion is rather unfortunate," he added, "because there is no historical significance attached to it."

The group endorsed Mr. Harvey's proposal.

Heroes

Bennett Praises Rowers

Victory by the B.C. rowers in the fours at the Olympic Games Tuesday was termed "an inspiration to the youth of this province" by Premier Bennett yesterday.

"They were magnificent and should be given a hero's welcome," the premier told reporters here yesterday morning. The B.C. rowers won the coxless fours event and placed second in the eights at the games now in progress in Melbourne.

Yesterday Premier Bennett gave a message to the captain of the rowing team.

"You represent the government and the people of British Columbia. I wish to heartily congratulate you on representing Canada so valiantly in the Olympic Games. You have created a first in Canadian rowing history, and we are all very proud of you."

Police Investigate Gorge Vale Theft

Equipment stolen at a Sunday session at the Gorge Vale Golf Club. Entry was gained by means of a broken window.

The thieves took $25 worth of liquor, mostly beer.

Licences and Taxes

Chamber Forms 'Watch-Dog' Body

A businessman's "watch-dog" committee to act as liaison with city council on trade licensing and tax matters was formed last night at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce civic affairs group.

Members appointed were Kenneth Murphy, lawyer, Herbert Barnes, industrial plant manager, and Ernie Brown, banker, who were instructed to cooperate with the city in tax discussions and investigate present legislation governing trades licenses and taxation.

Chamber vice-president Hugh Bennett, who originated the idea, said the businessmen in the tax-liaison committee would be brought down to the next legislative session. Expected to be introduced in the next session is a bill for equalization of business taxes and trade licensing throughout the province.

Industrial Oil Up in Price

Price of industrial heating oil has been increased 13 cents a gallon by major oil companies as a result of a price hike by California refineries. It was learned yesterday.

Heating oil for householders has not changed in price.

How to Pitch a Curve

Little Leaguers Billy 11 and Bobby Knezeky, 13, gave a baseball lesson last night to Fama A. Proulx, chairman of boys and girls work at the Nanaimo Club of Victoria. But boys had to replace baseballs after the lesson.

The Knezekys were hosts to 14 players and four coaches at the North Nanaimo stationery room at a banquet at the Montrose restaurant. (Colonist photo by Jim Ryan)

Was He Outsmarted?

Rosy Federal Grant Apple May Turn Sour on Bennett

By PETER BRUTON

The bright rosy apple Premier Bennett brought back from Ottawa in the form of federal government concessions last week might prove a little sour when the provincial government bites into it.

There is a growing feeling among local political observers that the premier may have been outsmarted by federal officials who were he had accepted their proposal to accept the job to build the Trans-Canada Highway on the lower mainland despite the premier's assurance that costs will be shared 50-50 by the federal and provincial governments.

Under the plan agreed upon in Ottawa last week, another high level bridge will be built across the Fraser River at Fort Mann, a new arterial highway will be constructed to the west coast of Vancouver Island, and the Upper Levels Highway will be built from the Fraser River to the city of Vancouver.

However, it was learned yesterday that the federal government had not only agreed to pay half the cost of the bridge and the highway, but also to pay for the construction of a new bridge over the Fraser River at Fort Mann, a new arterial highway will be constructed to the west coast of Vancouver Island, and the Upper Levels Highway will be built from the Fraser River to the city of Vancouver.

The Second Narrows bridge now being constructed at a cost of $10,000,000 is a six-lane structure. But instead of paying half the cost of $5,000,000, the federal government will only pay in the proportion of what a two-lane bridge would cost, estimated at between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

In addition, provincial authorities say that the proposed bridge over the Fraser River at Fort Mann must be a four-lane bridge to handle the traffic. It will cost a lot more than half the cost.

Reason for the federal attitude, which was explained to the premier, was that the federal government will only pay half of a two-lane artery. Reason for the federal attitude, which was explained to the premier, was that the federal government will only pay half of a two-lane artery.

All Mainland Flights Still Blocked by Fog

Fog grounded all Trans-Canada Airlines flights to Vancouver and Seattle yesterday and the condition will remain the same today, according to the weather office.

Canadian Pacific steamship service from Victoria and Nanaimo is running again on full schedule. The Princess Joan went back into service Sunday midnight after repairs totalling $10,000 were completed.

Princess Joan, after repairs, is an improvement on her former self. She was finally fogged in for the second night in a row.

Victim's Condition 'Not Good'

Co-Ed Experiment

Central's Days Relived

The story of a school that grew from a log cabin in a cabbage patch to a large modern concrete building is told in Central Junior High School's centennial booklet prepared for the "Pageant of Central" on Thursday and Friday at 8 p.m.

The booklet contains excellent excerpts from the Colonial including one from Feb. 21, 1894, which reported:

"The placing of boys and girls in the same room is an experiment, the result of which will be watched with interest by the teachers."

The first school was built in 1853 by direction from Sir James Douglas, then premier. This original building was later used as a high school when another building was built for lower grades.

Herbert Kent, the oldest student of this log cabin high school, still living in Victoria, wrote some of his early recollections of his public school days in Victoria.

Mr. Kent recalled the high school was first opened with 12 girls and 20 boys. The vacant fields opposite our school grounds were always occupied by cattle being fed and later killed in the slaughter house on the property.

Cheque Charge Involves Cash, $310 Fur Coat

Charge of obtaining goods by false pretences was read in city police court yesterday to Margaret Gillespie, no fixed address.

It was alleged by police that the woman obtained a $310 fur coat and $50 cash by cheque at Foster's Fur Store Ltd., 755 Yates. She was remanded without plea until today.

Two sailors were also remanded by Magistrate Henry C. Hall, to Thursday morning, after pleading guilty to a charge of assault causing bodily harm.

Robert Stevens said he was in the Plaza Cafe 636 Johnson, shortly after midnight on Nov. 27 with three friends when the two accused came in. After an exchange of words, he said, the two attacked him, punching him in the eye and breaking his glasses.

The two who asked for probation reports, will be sentenced Thursday.

Three drivers pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving.

Robert J. Webb, 249 Selkirk, admitted to a charge arising from an accident just east of Point Ellice bridge at 11 p.m. Nov. 10. He also admitted leaving the scene of an accident.

Magistrate Hall fined him $35 on the first count, $40 on the second, and ordered his licence suspended.

Mahinder Singh, 580 John, was also involved in an accident when he lost control of his car while turning onto Bay from Fernwood. He was fined $40 and had his licence suspended.

Harry E. Yarni, 520 Empress, was in a collision Nov. 10 on Douglas near Burnside. Fined $35, he also had his licence suspended.

Robert Readwell, 298 Beaulieu, was fined $50 for driving while his licence was under suspension.

Five Marriages Left Their Mark

By JOE HYAMS

This is the third in a series of five articles about one of the most unusual men of our time—Clark Gable.

Clark Gable's life has been a series of marriages and divorces. He has been married five times and three of the marriages ended in divorce. There was an embarrassing paternity suit which resulted in the jailing of his accuser for false testimony. There have been many romances.

His first two marriages were to women older than himself. It has been suggested by amateur psychiatrists that he was seeking a mother substitute to make up for the death of his own mother.

Gable refuses to discuss either marriage. He subscribes to the theory that he was seeking in older women wisdom he felt lacking in himself.

He met his first wife, Josephine Dillon, in 1923 in Portland, Ore. A story has it that he was a repairman who went to fix her telephone. Gable says he was actually employed as a lineman and he first met Miss Dillon at a dramatic school she was running.

When he enrolled in Miss Dillon's school she was 37 years old, a judge's daughter and a graduate of Stanford University. He studied with her for almost a year.

Miss Dillon taught him diction and timing. She taught him how to make an entrance and walk across a stage. She found him a job in a local theatre.

She went to Hollywood to see a dramatic school and a few months later Gable went to Hollywood, too. They were married on Dec. 13, 1924.

In those days the idol of the silent screen was Rudolph Valentino. Gable just didn't fit into the Hollywood pattern. During his first year in Hollywood he did bit parts. "I worked a few days," he recalled, "with Pola Negri and Rod LaRoque in a Lubitsch picture. I held a sword."

Most of his income came from the stage. Los Angeles theatre was flourishing in those days and Gable became one of the city's most popular leading men.

He worked steadily in Los Angeles and then went on the road for 32 weeks. Finally he arrived on Broadway where he appeared in more than half a dozen shows over a three-year period.

Gable is very proud of his stage background. It destroys the legend that he was an untutored lumberjack when he came to Hollywood. Actually he had played in everything from leading men to character parts and comedy.

He returned to Los Angeles from Broadway in 1930 for a road show appearance in "The Last Mile" as Killer Mears—a role created on Broadway by Spencer Tracy.

Lionel Barrymore, who had known Gable in New York, dropped backstage to see him. "He told me I should make some motion pictures," Gable said. "I told him I had been in the picture business—as an extra. Lionel said it was different now. The big stars couldn't talk and he was a director. He'd make a test of me."

ZANUCK SAW IT

Minna Wallis, sister to producer-director Hal Wallis, saw the original test and showed it to Darryl Zanuck at Fox. Zanuck said Gable's ears were too big and he'd never be a leading man. She arranged another meeting for Gable with Thalberg. The boy wonder changed his opinion and signed him to a contract with MGM for $650 a week.

The Gable personality began to project itself in "A Free Soul." One morning in 1931, Lionel Barrymore walked onto the set and saw Gable with a woman in his arms. Gable flipped his friend a casual salute as if he made love to great actresses before breakfast every morning. "He took it for granted," reported the astounded Barrymore.

STOLE SHOW
Gable stole "A Free Soul" completely away from Miss Shearer. Leslie Howard and Barrymore. A front office executive decided that if Gable hit Miss Shearer the audience would dislike him.

The scene was inserted, but when the movie was previewed the audience howled with delight. They had me clouting everybody after that," said Gable. "I didn't care. I used to laugh at it. I was making good money and I did as I was told. The only one I didn't clout was Garbo when I appeared with her. She probably would have clipped me back."

Clark Gable and Jean Harlow in 1937 as they appeared in "Saratoga." The film was completed, when Jean Harlow died, with another actress in the final scenes. (Article 3.)

Gable and Josephine Dillon were divorced. A few months later he married Ria Langham, a divorcee he met on Broadway. She was a widow, eleven years his senior and mother of a teenage son and daughter.

Almost from the beginning of Gable's marriage to Ria Langham there were rumors of trouble. He was fast becoming a big star.

During one year he made fourteen pictures. In 1934 after winning an Academy Award for "It Happened One Night" he jumped from seventh to second place among the top money-making stars.

$40,000 Survey to Decide Canada's Tourist Potential

OTTAWA (BUP)—The 11th federal-provincial tourist conference decided Tuesday at its closing session to spend $40,000 on a survey that would settle once and for all the economic potentialities of Canada's tourist trade.

The go-ahead will be given once the federal government allocates $15,000 to its travel bureau as its share toward the survey.

The survey will be conducted by a private company not yet selected. It is expected it will be completed in time for presentation to the 1958 federal-provincial conference.

The provinces will contribute $17,000 as their share for the survey while the Canadian Tourist Association will donate $8,000.

A special working committee informed the conference before it ended that W. J. Dunlop, CBC supervisor of institutional broadcasts, had agreed to discuss a conference proposal concerning provincial television programs, with programming heads of the

The proposal was that each province should produce at least one hour-long television show a year on the CBC national network to promote its tourist business.

Earlier the conference elected a five-member steering committee to see what could be done to step up Canada's tourist traffic

Produced and deftly directed by John Farrow, the picture is a powerful probing of human reactions to the threat of sudden extermination. How eleven people from different walks of life with different morals and manners behave in the presence of impending doom is something Mr. Farrow has succeeded in illustrating on film. The effect is arresting. The tense story and fast performances, of course, must share credit for this accomplishment. Jonathan Latimer's screen play deals with a handful of Americans trapped in the steaming South American jungle after an airplane crash-landing. This is the unexplored, Jivaro headhunter area where expeditions disappear without a trace.

In a breath-taking process of elimination, five of the castaways are selected for possible escape. How the others meet their fate might well be a believable clue to what has actually happened in many unsolved jungle mysteries.
